The Quiz Competition was conducted online and was open to all school and college students, with the aim of spreading awareness about the importance of intellectual property in today's innovation-driven world. The quiz covered key topics including patents, copyrights, trademarks, and industrial designs. It received an enthusiastic response from students, helping them gain valuable knowledge in a competitive and engaging manner.

Her talk

emphasized the need for IP awareness among educators and researchers, highlighting how faculties can play a pivotal role in guiding student innovations and safeguarding institutional research outcomes. She explained the types of IPR, including patents, copyrights, trademarks, and industrial designs, and their implications for academic projects and collaborative research.

A significant part of her session focused on the practical aspects of patent filing in India, with a detailed explanation of the various official forms involved in the process, such as:

- Form 1 – Application for Grant of Patent
- Form 2 – Provisional or Complete Specification
- Form 3 – Statement and Undertaking Regarding Foreign Applications
- Form 5 – Declaration as to Inventorship
- Form 18 – Request for Examination
- Form 27 – Statement Regarding Working of the Patent

She also clarified the differences between provisional and complete specifications, discussed timelines, filing procedures, fee structures, and the significance of conducting a prior art search before submission.

Additionally, Dr. Seenuvasan, District Program Manager, Entrepreneurship Development and Innovation Institute (EDII), Chengalpattu, shed light on the government schemes under the Startup India initiative, particularly the benefits available for educational institutions and innovators.

The session was well-received by the faculty, sparking discussions on how to integrate IPR practices into curriculum development, project evaluations, and research mentorship. The talk served as a valuable knowledge-sharing platform to strengthen the IPR ecosystem within the institution.
