ABOUT THE WEBINAR

A year after it first appeared as an isolated health concern in November 2019, in Wuhan city in China the COVID-19 pandemic has very quickly altered the world in a very significant way.

For us in India, we have been deeply worried about COVID-19 from early 2020. A severe lockdown from the end of March 2020, which has been eased gradually, has seen many months of severe disruption on all aspects of life, which was already challenging enough as it is! Recognizing and addressing this significant disruption and higher stress among youth and the student community, urgently needs a very high degree of attention and action.

Vinayaka Missions Research Foundation is doing exemplary work in the field of health care and education, since inception almost forty years earlier. Apart from this, as a responsible organization, it is also playing an extremely critical role in various areas of significant impact, including of Corporate Social Responsibility. The University actively participates in National Missions, such as Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, Ayushman Bharat, Start Up Mission and others, and students of VMRF have actively assisted the government during the current pandemic including providing quarantine and medical facilities free of cost. These are just some examples among many.

Sri Vishnu Mohan Foundation has, since its founding in 2007, given considerable focus to promote harmony across different religious and communal divides. The annual "Peace Conference", the series of "Forgiveness is Liberation" conferences, and many others stand testimony to this.

Conscious that a majority of India's population is relatively young, the Foundation seeks to convey its message of harmony, acceptance, and positivity for the younger Indians as well. There is a high extent of commonality between both organizations, in terms of not just desiring a better future for all of India, and the world, but also that both organizations are actively working toward this end.

This Webinar, to be held on two days i.e. 6th and 7th November 2020, seeks to take another step toward the goal of a better, more harmonious, and positive future, with special focus on the young, who are our future.
